

Joan is setting new standards for workplace management and safety

Turn your workplace into a better, more efficient and safer place to work.

In the course of history, we've seen a couple of major workplace trends – from cubicles to open floor spaces, and dreamy corner offices. However, the transition was always gradual. With the recent global events, the slow and steady pace of change got replaced by updating workplace layouts overnight.

The number of desks decreased, leaving people without their assigned seats. This led to re-imagining the workplace dynamics by adding micro-locations where people can do focused work – whether it is from meeting rooms, huddle spaces, office pods, and anywhere else near a power source. The re-imagined workplace balances work-from-home, office pods, meeting rooms, and desks.

This extra layer of workplace complexity demands additional resources for ensuring employees' satisfaction while complying with health measures. Joan strips the complexity by offering easy-to-use, energy-efficient solutions that can be deployed in a matter of minutes. Responding to the current trend in the best possible way – fast and safe.

Joan is a centralized workplace management system

Eliminate workplace complexities while ensuring the highest levels of safety. Joan is bringing clarity and consistency to your place of work by offering integrated and connected solutions. With Joan, all your locations are centrally managed and optimized to your needs. Its intuitive interface elevates user experience by flattening the learning curve and cutting onboarding time to mere minutes.

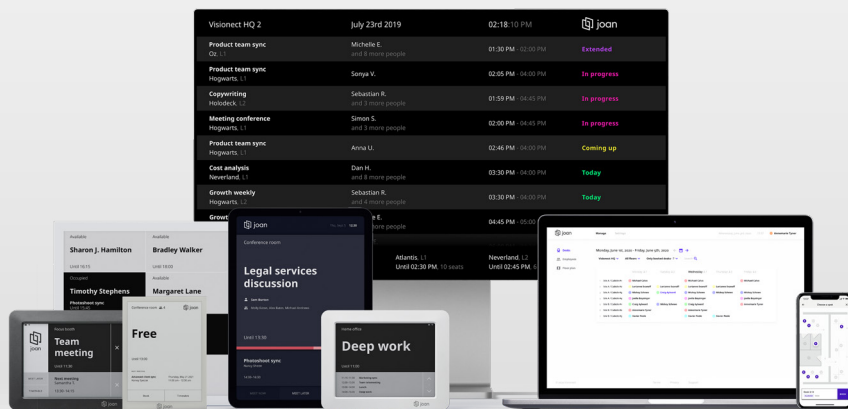

Elevate your workplace management process with Joan

A centralized workplace management system, built around an ultra-low-power, sustainable display platform. It consists of 5 distinct software solutions that make every workplace a better, more efficient, and safer place to work: Room, Desk, Visitors, Home and Sign.

The solutions are stand-alone but can be connected into a powerful, centrally managed system everyone loves. The new network of displays and solutions goes hand in hand with our subscription plans fitted for every office.

Works with

Room

Perfect for remote or on the spot booking of meeting rooms, and huddle spaces. Eliminates meeting interruptions by clearly displaying the current meeting room status.

Desk

Book a desk before arriving at the office. You can be confident that a workstation is waiting for you while seeing who else is in the office on the same day.

Visitors

Contact tracing has become a crucial feature of all workplaces. Make sure that any emergency stays under control by having a fast and intuitive way to track who's been in contact.

Home

The solution enables focused work and makes sure your availability is clearly communicated with the other household members.

Sign

Show your office map, and important information. Or leverage our digital signage for communicating quarterly success or praising your employees.

We developed our workplace management system having our customers in mind.

The new and improved Joan workplace management approach was designed with you in mind. It's our mission to improve your workplace by making it more efficient, safer, and overall better. With our system in place, you can always be sure that everything is properly managed and secure.

Managing your workplace has never been easier

Experience the power of an organized workplace by exploring our solutions. Get in contact and let's discuss the perfect solution for your place of work.

sales@getjoan.com